

Dr Sanjeeva Gupta

Dr Sanjeeva Gupta is recognised for his sustained leadership in pain medicine, combining patient-centred clinical care with national and international impact in education, research, and service development. Over more than two decades, he has advanced standards in interventional pain management, guideline development, and multidisciplinary education, while championing safety, quality, and equity in pain care. His work has significantly influenced clinical practice, professional training, and patient outcomes in the UK and beyond.

