

Professor Suellen Walker

Professor Suellen Walker is recognised for her exceptional and sustained contribution to improving the lives of children and young people with pain. Through internationally leading research, evidence-based guideline development, and innovative, family-centred clinical programmes, she has transformed understanding and management of paediatric and neuropathic pain. Her work bridges laboratory science and clinical practice, consistently placing patient and family outcomes at the heart of pain care.

